JOB PURPOSE:

To undertake research in line with the School's research strategy, to design and deliver modules, to contribute to the development of undergraduate, postgraduate taught, and postgraduate research programmes, and to contribute to the School's internationalisation, outreach, and administrative activities.

MAJOR DUTIES:

Teaching:

1. Develop, teach, and assess modules at all levels, having overall responsibility for their design and quality.
2. Contribute to the enhancement of quality within the School's educational portfolio, ensuring that programme design and delivery comply with the appropriate benchmarks and regulations.
3. Lead the development of new modules/programmes in line with the emerging educational portfolio of Queen's Business School, and the University.
4. Act as internal examiner for undergraduate, postgraduate, and executive education students.

Research:

1. Maintain an international reputation as an expert in Finance / Financial Analytics.
2. Sustain a track record of internationally competitive and excellent refereed publications in Finance / Financial Analytics, and present original research at relevant international conferences.
3. Disseminate research findings to non-academic stakeholder groups.
4. Develop innovative proposals and lead research funding bids.
5. Provide supervision of part-time and full-time research students.
6. Direct, mentor and develop research staff, where appropriate.
7. Ensure that research projects are completed on time and within budget.
8. Act as referee and contribute to peer assessment of research.

Administration/Contribution to the Community:

1. Contribute to the development and running of the School by taking on appropriate leadership, administration, and co-ordination roles. Such duties may include, for example, Programme Director, Advisor of Studies, or other recognised official University/School roles.
2. Provide pastoral care for students and ensure, as far as practicable, that relevant issues are dealt with in a timely, fair, sympathetic, and effective manner.
3. Act as mentor or appraiser to colleagues, advising on their personal development and ensuring that they are meeting the standards required. Contribute to the running and strategic direction of the University through designated committee work or project activities.

ESSENTIAL CRITERIA:

1. A completed PhD or very close to completion in Finance / Financial Analytics or cognate disciplines.
2. An established programme of research activity and dissemination of original, high-quality research in Finance / Financial Analytics in line with accepted norms for a Lecturer.

3. A sustained track record of high-quality peer reviewed Finance / Financial Analytics publications as appropriate to norms for a Lecturer.
4. Ability to develop and lead a major programme of individual or collaborative research in Finance / Financial Analytics research.
5. Ability to contribute to successful, sustained postgraduate student supervision as primary supervisor, normally at PhD level.
6. Evidence of the ability and willingness to teach modules at university level in one or more of the following areas: Corporate Finance, Asset Pricing, Financial Data Analytics, Trading, Banking, Financial Modelling, Derivatives, International Finance, FinTech.
7. Ability and willingness to deliver excellent classroom and online teaching.
8. A willingness to provide support and guidance to students, including pastoral support.
9. Evidence of administrative and academic leadership activities as appropriate to norms for a Lecturer.
10. Ability and willingness to contribute to the strategic and operational management of Queen's Business School.
11. Demonstrable ability to advance the teaching and research goals of Queen's Business School.
12. Demonstrable ability to strengthen the Queen's Business School's national and international research networks and reputation.
13. Demonstrable evidence of ability to communicate clearly and effectively to students, academic colleagues and to professional bodies.
14. Demonstrable ability to build effective relationships with a wide range of internal and external colleagues.
15. Demonstrable ability to contribute to Queen's Business School's international activities.

DESIRABLE CRITERIA:

1. Evidence of the potential to maintain and develop engagements with non-academic stakeholder groups.
